

John Muir

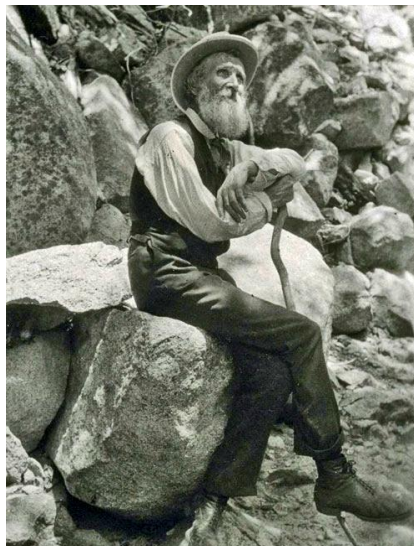

Rhapsody in Green

(featuring 'Stickeen' – the greatest dog story ever told)

Written and performed by Mike Maran

Directed by Patrick Sandford

John Muir, Scottish adventurer and father of the American national parks, explores the forests and glaciers of the Pacific Northwest, saves the life of his friend, Sam Young, on a mountain top, rescues the plucky wee terrier, Stickeen, from a glacier crevasse – daredevil feats matched by inspirational stories round the campfire that even the wolves gather to hear. Now Sam Young shares these wilderness stories with you – and Stickeen keeps him right. That dog knows a thing or two, I can tell you!
